

Treasure Hunt!

7) Explore the Nautical Museum to find the pictures below.

Did you know... The 'Peggy' is the oldest known yacht in the world!

8) The Georgians liked to display 'silhouette' portraits of family members and friends.

This is a silhouette picture of Captain George Quayle.

Draw your own silhouette portrait in the frame below!

The Nautical Museum Trail

There is so much to discover at the Nautical Museum in Castletown. Dress like a Georgian, learn your nautical knots and learn about Captain George Quayle and his yacht Peggy.

Name: _____

Use your Nautical Museum Trail symbols!

DRAW

LOOK

ASK STAFF

READ

THINK

1) Who once owned the Nautical Museum building?

_____

2) Which of these objects are 'not' displayed in the Nautical Museum?

_____

- Egg Cup
- Pyjamas
- Coconuts

3) Where did Captain George Quayle keep his yacht called 'Peggy'?

_____

- In the Cabin Room
- In the Boathouse
- In the Sailmaker's loft

Did you know... That the Peggy was discovered in the boat house. She had remained hidden there for over 100 years!

4) Look in the Cabin Room. Can you locate the the secret panel? Here are two clues to help you.

F _ r _ p _ _ _ _

Did you know... Captain George Quayle's boat 'Peggy' was named after his mother who was actually called Margaret Quayle. Can you find her portrait in the Gallery? Here is a clue to help you.

5)

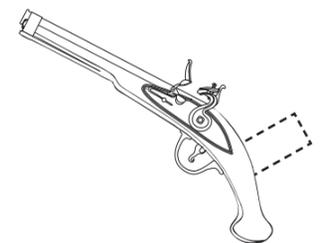

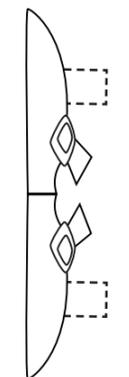

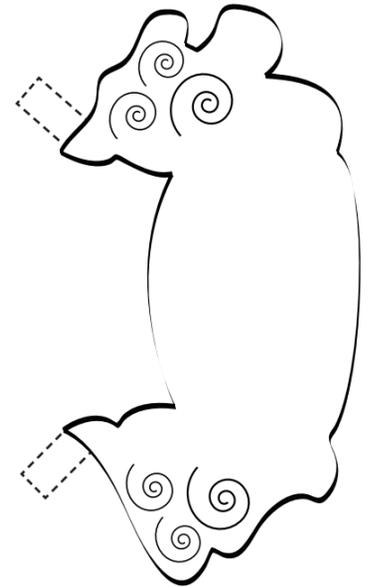

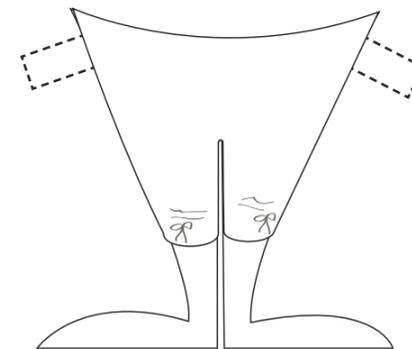

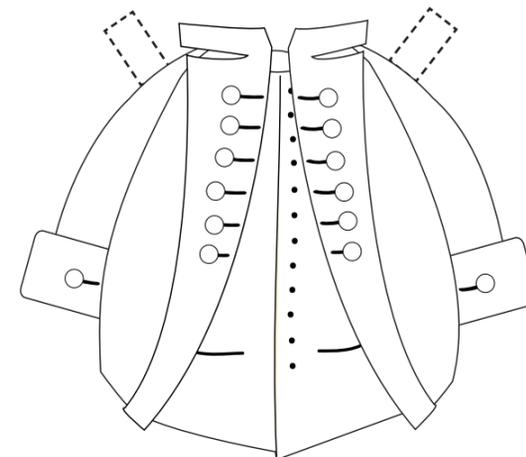

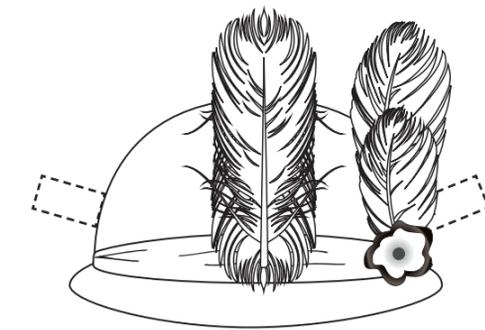

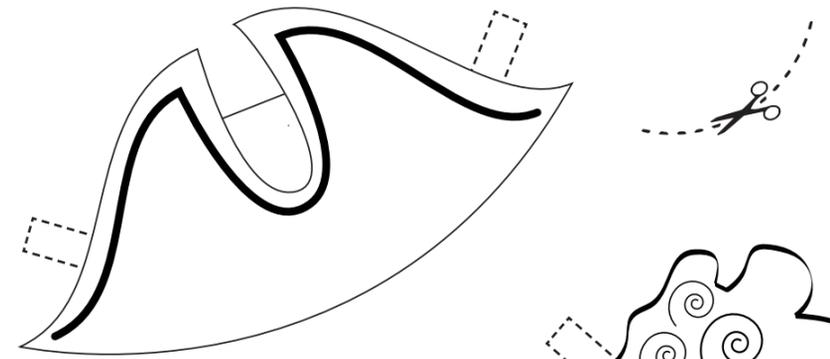

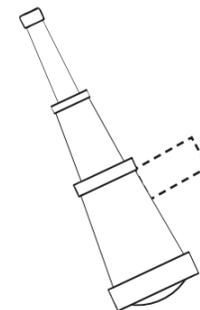

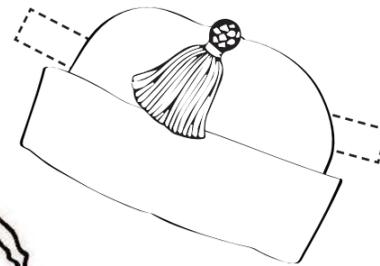

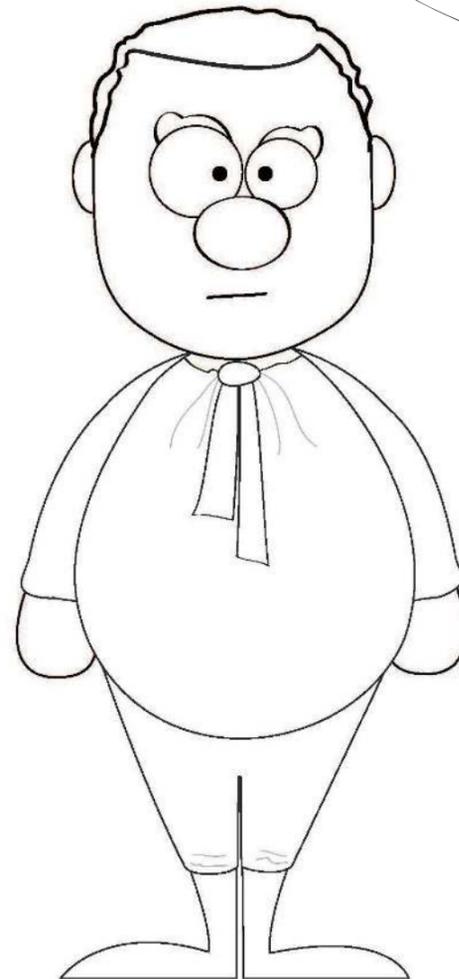

Challenge!

Visit the costume area and dress as a Georgian!

What is George doing today?

6) Colour in George and choose his outfit to dress him for the day.

Captain George Quayle was a politician, a Captain of a Royal regiment and a curious inventor. The Nautical Museum was where Captain Quayle kept his beloved boat the Peggy.